MARKETING STRATEGY CONSULTANT

Hi. I'm Cody.

I help companies get clear on what their marketing should actually be doing by figuring out what's driving growth and what isn't.

Strategy before execution. Every time.

Most companies don't need more marketing. They need to make better decisions about what's worth doing in the first place.

This is a quick look at how I think and whether working together would make sense.

🕒 ABOUT 5-6 MINUTES

There's a difference between having a goal and knowing what actually drives it.

Most companies know where they want to go.

Very few know what's actually going to get them there.

That's where strategy comes in. Before anything gets built, launched, or funded.

Take a website.

When someone says "it's not working," that usually means one of three things:

- Not enough people are finding it
- People find it but don't take action
- People don't understand what you offer or why it matters

Three different problems. Three different solutions.

Most teams guess. Strategy tells you which one you actually have.

FOUR WAYS TO WORK TOGETHER

What I do.

01

01 / SNAPSHOT

Strategy Snapshot: 90-Day Priorities

For when you need direction now, without committing to a full planning cycle. Identifies what to do next and what to stop doing.

You get: A 2-page prioritized plan with 3 initiatives to act on immediately

02

02 / ROADMAP

Strategy & Roadmap

For when you're about to invest in execution and need the full picture first. Defines what to build, what to delay, and why. Forces the decisions most teams avoid before investing in execution.

You get: A sequenced, execution-ready roadmap your team can follow with confidence

03

03 / BLUEPRINT

Targeted Campaign Blueprint

System design for a specific growth motion. Right audience, right message, right channels. Built on real decisions, not assumptions.

You get: A build-ready campaign structure with audience, message, channels, and measurement

04

04 / ADVISORY

Fractional Marketing Advisory

Ongoing strategic guidance without adding headcount. Not execution. Ensuring the right decisions are made.

You get: Consistent strategic input that keeps execution connected to the plan

LET'S BE HONEST ABOUT FIT

Results matter. So does how we work together.

Short projects exist partly to test whether there's something worth continuing. You see how I think. I see if I can actually help. If it doesn't click, that's a fine outcome. I'd rather both sides know that upfront.

TENDS TO BE A GOOD FIT

- + Owner-led or founder-adjacent service business at a growth inflection point
- + $1M to $5M in revenue with limited internal marketing capacity
- + Ready to make decisions about focus, even if it means changing direction
- + Open to outside perspective and willing to challenge how things are currently being done
- + Ready to be involved in the process, not just receive the output

PROBABLY NOT THE RIGHT FIT

- x Already have a fully staffed in-house marketing department
- x Looking for someone to run campaigns or manage production
- x Primarily focused on finding the most affordable option

● CY STRATEGIES

RECENT WORK

A few examples.

PC

POST CAPTAIN CONSULTING

Jake Daly built Post Captain Consulting on referrals. When they were ready to grow intentionally, we built their first real marketing foundation from the ground up: brand, voice, story, positioning, data systems, and pipeline visibility. The goal was to look and sound like the company they already were.

Clear positioning + a foundation built for intentional growth

CC

CROSSOVER CAPITAL

Alex Pron needed to reach family law attorneys with a specific, credible message. We built the positioning, campaign structure, audience targeting, and content to do that. An attorney who said he never clicks ads reached out after clicking this one. The message was that precise.

Right strategy + right message + right audience

JM

JM LAW

Josh Marks needed a process, not more content. We built the outreach workflow, lead management system, and follow-up structure to help him shift from scattered activity to focused B2B referral relationships with business brokers and referral partners.

Focused outreach. Better relationships. More consistency.

WHAT'S NEXT

Two ways to move forward.

If you want a clearer sense of scope, timing, and fit before we talk, start with the guided flow. If you'd rather start with a conversation, that works too.

GET CLARITY FIRST

Walk me through it

A short, guided set of questions that tailors my offerings to your business and shows how scope, timing, and priorities would likely take shape.

START WITH A CONVERSATION

Start a conversation

If you already have context and want to talk it through, we can start there and figure out fit together.
